

SAY!

(By CHARLES J. ARNOLD)

DePauw was on the air big Sunday afternoon during the Chicago Tribune report of the Chicago Bear and Dayton professional football game played in Chicago, which was won 27 to 0 by the latter. Dick Sturtridge, former DePauw football and track ace was one of the back field men for the Bears while "Big" Smith, former DePauw football and basketball star was reporting the game for the Tribune and came in for a nice lot of radio publicity along with Sturtridge.

I had a lot of trouble this morning when I called my friend wife by telephone and attempted to ask her if she would please—I always ask "Please"—look and see if I had a bottle of gun oil with my hunting outfit. The phone connection was not so good and I could not get her to understand what kind of oil I was talking about. I repeated "gun oil" several times but she would sweetly answer: "Yes, I understand oil all right but what kind of oil?" So driven to desperation I got down to details and spelled it out for her as follows: "G" as in Jerusalem; "U" as in Europe and "N" as in Pneumonia. Then she got it all right.

Notice to Game Wardens—As I have again taken to the fields on my annual quail hunts I hereby give notice that any game warden caught trespassing on my lands will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law and then some. And I do not mean, maybe.

Looks like old Jack Frost had started in on his winter chores in earnest.

A friend of mine made me awful mad Sunday by presenting me with three fine mallard ducks just fresh from the river.

Dean R. G. McCutchan is to be congratulated on the class of entertainers he is bringing to Greencastle on the DePauw Fine Arts Course. The English Singers who will give a concert in Meharry Hall, Friday night, are among of the most outstanding concert companies obtainable. The cost in securing these artists is great and the community should respond to the opportunity to hear them.

Well, let's get together and defeat Wabash this year. The DePauw football squad has the ability to turn things around this year, but encouragement helps a lot. Let's get behind the Tigers and help them win the big game this year.

There is no use crying over spilled milk nor over the election, although that can hardly be classed as "spilled milk." There was quite a bit of liquid spilled during the campaign but it was not milk.

A Hendricks county officer is missing and indications are that his accounts are short. Well! Well! Well! Hendricks county is stepping right out. Maybe it is tired of having Marion County and Indianapolis getting all the limelight publicity.

"Girls need $75 cash and plenty of Snappy Togs to get a job in New York"—Headline. But with $75 and plenty of good clothes, why, a job?

Ralph Updike, defeated in his race for re-election to Congress from the Marion county district by Louis Ludlow, Democrat, has asked a recount of the vote, in hopes that he can squeeze through and keep Ludlow out of Congress. Seems to me that the Republicans ought to be liberal enough to allow us Democrats one or two Representatives in Congress, just as long as they do not get too obnoxious.

ENGLISH SINGERS CONCERT TO BE OUTSTANDING EVENT

The concert by the English Singers to be given at Meharry Hall Friday night will undoubtedly be the outstanding number on the Fine Arts Course of the University this year. Patrons remembering the great excellence of the numbers last year will be interested in knowing that, in the judgement of the Committee, this number will be the most attractive one which has ever come to Greencastle. The program will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Patrons are asked to be in their places by that time. Committee on Fine Arts Course.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—Funeral services for John B. Wingfield, 68 years old, wholesale confectioner who died Saturday will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home, 2525 Broadway. Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

Mr. Wingfield, had lived in Indianapolis forty-eight years. He was a member of the Confectioners Club, Modern Woodmen of America and the Central Avenue M. E. Church. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Orla Wood Wingfield; a daughter, Mrs. Robert F. Peele of Indianapolis and two brothers, Louis Wingfield of Bloomington, and George C. Wingfield of Cloverdale.

MASONS HOLD HOME COMING AT TEMPLE

ABOUT 150 MEMBERS OF MASONIC LODGE ATTEND CELEBRATION HERE MONDAY NIGHT—IS ANNUAL AFFAIR

Approximately one hundred and fifty members and guests attended the third annual Home Coming at the Masonic Temple Monday evening. The event marked the third anniversary of the dedication of the Temple. The committee in charge of the meeting was composed of Ralph Howard, Wallace Long and Marion Cooper.

At 6:30 o'clock the crowd was seated at four large tables and served an oyster supper consisting of oyster soup, pickles, salad and pumpkin pie. Following the supper there was work in the Master Mason degree by the regular officers with Bence Dagg as master of ceremonies.

There were guests from Masonic Lodges at Bainbridge, Carbon, Southport, Indianapolis, Cloverdale, Fillmore and Morgan County.

The local Temple was dedicated November 12, 1925, and each year since, the local lodge has held a celebration as near that date as possible. These events are always looked forward to as a get-together occasion for all Masons.

CONFECTIONERY LEASED

The J. E. Cash confectionery store located across from the high school building, which has been leased for the past several months by Rev. Hansel Tower has changed hands and will now be in charge of Adrian Reed, who purchased Mr. Towers' lease Saturday night and took possession Tuesday morning. Adrian Reed is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Fenwick Reed.

LATTA GATHERS LOCAL DATA

Prof. W. C. Latta, consulting specialist of the agricultural department of Purdue University, was in Greencastle Monday afternoon gathering data regarding the history of the development of Indiana agriculture. This is part of the extension work carried on by Purdue.

Several local agriculturists met Prof. Latta in the county agent's office and gave him valuable data regarding the bringing of pure bred livestock into the county. In the early days Putnam County played an important part in the development of the various breeds of livestock.

These interviewed by Prof. Latta were James Bridges, John W. Robe, J. B. Burris, Prof. R. A. Ogg, James A. Williams and Dr. T. A. Sigler.

SWAIM OPENS AGENCY

J. Carl Swaim, former operator of the Russellville and Waveland telephone exchanges, has opened an automobile agency in Crawfordsville. Mr. Swaim expects to move his family from Waveland to Crawfordsville soon.

CAR INJURY MAY PROVE FATAL TO MANHATTAN BOY

CECIL WAYNE GREEN ACCIDENTALLY PUSHED INTO SIDE OF CAR DRIVEN BY TERRE HAUTE MAN

BOY RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Handle of Automobile Door Breaks Off In Boy's Face—Condition Considered Fair

Cecil Wayne Green, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Green, living opposite the Manhattan school house, was seriously injured about 11:45 o'clock when he was accidentally pushed into the side of an automobile by some school children as they were leaving the Manhattan school at noon.

The boys face struck the steel handle of the door of the car. The handle broke, leaving part of it in the boy's face. He was immediately rushed to the County Hospital. The car was driven by E. L. Rood of Terre Haute. Mr. Rood is engineer on the switch engine now working at Greencastle and he was enroute to Greencastle when the accident happened. He stated that he was not driving fast or the accident would probably have been fatal to the boy. The school children were playing when they came from the school grounds and evidently did not realize how close they were to the car.

At the Hospital Tuesday afternoon the lad was reported as being in a serious condition. The full extent of the injury had not been fully determined early in the afternoon.

According to Dr. W. M. McGaughey the attending physician, the lad is suffering terribly from the shock and pain of the injury. The door handle penetrated the lad's face just left of his nose and projected through the flesh as far back as his left ear. The bones in the left side of his face were crushed and the flesh and tissues mangled.

WELFARE GROUP HAS MEETING

Mrs. A. G. Brown presided at the meeting of the Child Welfare committee held in the public library Monday afternoon. Several bills were allowed among which was for glasses for two children. It was also planned to give medical aid to another child. Miss Buckley of the opportunity room was present and told of the conditions in her room. The committee plans to give aid to better the condition. The president announced that practically 168 bottles of free milk were being distributed daily to the three ward schools, Maple Heights and the opportunity room.

The committee was enthusiastic over the work. In their plans for the year they hope to accomplish greater things than in the past.

The Child Welfare magazine is being sent to the schools to help in the work.

CANDIDATE FILES EXPENSE STATEMENT

A. O. Alley, defeated candidate for commissioner, spent $31 in promotion of his candidacy, according to an expense statement filed with County Clerk Ferd Lucas. Candidates are required to file expense statements within thirty days after an election. Mr. Alley is the only candidate to file so far.

Dr. John L. Boyd of Greencastle conducted the funeral of Mrs. Flora Bergdoll, age 61 years, at Bloomington Tuesday morning.

SECOND SCANDAL AT DANVILLE IS THREATENED

FLOYD L. WHICKER, HENDRICKS COUNTY AUDITOR, MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS FROM CITY

EXAMINERS CHECK ACCOUNTS

Formerly Lived Near Stilesville And Is Well Known Here—Was Last Seen At Stilesville By Friends

DANVILLE, Ind., Nov. 12.—The second political scandal within a month threatened Hendricks county today when the mysterious disappearance of Floyd L. Whicker, county auditor, was discovered.

Irregularities in Whicker's accounts were found today by examiners of the state board of accounts.

They started an immediate check on his books, Lawrence F. Orr, chief examiner of the accounts board, announced.

The total discrepancy in funds will not be known until the examiners complete their work, which may take several days.

A month ago today Alvin Woodward county clerk was placed behind the bars at the Michigan City state prison to serve a sentence for embezzlement of public funds.

At a called session of the Hendricks county board of commissioners this afternoon the members appointed Charles E. Shields, a banker of Clayton to fill the unexpired term of the Auditor. Shields took office immediately. Both the former auditor and Shields are Republicans.

Whicker was last seen at Stilesville, five miles west of Danville, Thursday night, by Claude Boyd of Stilesville, a close friend. After conversing with Boyd a few minutes he drove toward Terre Haute, according to information received by Orr.

The missing official was driving a new automobile purchased at the Everett J. Roberts garage at Danville. Only a small amount of money had been paid on the car, Roberts reported.

A check of Danville banks and business houses revealed unpaid bills, bank notes and other debts against Whicker amounting to several hundred dollars.

In conversations with friends and acquaintances Thursday, Whicker announced his intention of joining some Terre Haute friends on a hunting trip. Guy Williams county agricultural agent, was one of the men to whom he told his intentions. Mrs. Whicker, who served as deputy auditor under her husband was visiting relatives at Noblesville at time of his disappearance. She went to that city, Tuesday.

Members of the board of accounts have been in Danville for the last three months examining county, city and township books. Wednesday night the two examiners B. B. McDonald of Indianapolis and R. B. Heritage of Pendleton, were called to Peru on special work for a few days, and the following day Whicker vanished.

After less than an hour's work a shortage of several hundred dollars in Whicker's accounts was found, Orr reported. They money was missing from the county school fund. The auditor was entrusted with approximately $250,000 in this fund.

All books of the missing man will be checked in detail and it will be necessary to interview many persons in the county to whom school fund money was loaned before the exact amount of the shortage is known.

Whicker is 35 years old and prominent in the civic affairs of Danville. He was an overseas war veteran. He is the son of Franz Whicker, a prominent former of near Stilesville. He lived near Stilesville until his election as auditor six years ago. A brother, Fred Whicker is cashier of the Broad Ripple bank.

Shields the newly appointed office holder, was formerly cashier of the Clayton State Bank, recently consolidated.

PRINCIPALS TO MEET AT BLOOMINGTON NOV. 16

The seventh annual High School Principal's conference under the auspices of the School of Education of Indiana University, will be held at Indiana University at Bloomington, November 16-17. All sessions will be held in the auditorium of the Commerce Building. All school officials and teachers interested in High School administrations are invited to attend. There will be round table discussions and addresses. Superintendent Warren J. Yount of the Greencastle Public Schools, will preside at a round table discussion on "Character Education in the Larger Schools", on Friday afternoon, which is the first day of the session.

38 CHURCHES TO BE REPRESENTED AT CONVENTION

ANNUAL EVENT OF COUNTY COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION TO BE HELD AT CLOVERDALE SUNDAY—DONUS E. DENNY WILL PRESIDE

Thirty-eight Putnam County Churches will be represented in the one day annual convention of the County Council of Religious Education. The convention opens at 9:30 Sunday, Nov. 18, at the Cloverdale Methodist Church.

Donus E. Denny will preside over the 9:30 Sunday School service which opens the convention. The worship service at 10:30 will feature an address on "Some Essentials in Worship" by a Miss Nellie Young, State Superintendent of the Children's Division.

The afternoon session of the convention will start at 2:00 with a worship service led by Rev. W. H. Thompson. The program includes special music and an address by Professor R. A. Ogg.

Following Professor Ogg's address, County President, L. E. Mitchell, Professor of Journalism at DePauw, will bring to order the conventions business session with a roll call. Newly elected officers will then be installed. As the last speaker, Miss Nellie Young will talk on "The Motive and Objective in Religious Education."

CARS CRASH AT INTERSECTION

A collision at Walnut and Locust streets about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon seriously damaged the Ford sedan of Clark Wixson, 513 Howard Street, when it collided with a Dodge roadster driven by Earl Barnes, Sigma Chi Hopse, DePauw sophomore. No onlookers saw the accident, and it is not known definitely who was to blame. The corner, one of the most dangerous in the city because of the amount of traffic and the nearness of the High School building, is protected by stop and go signals. Wixson was going south at the time, and the other car was coming from the east and had turned north.

The front axle of the Ford was broken, and the left fender and the hood smashed in. A wrecker was necessary to move it, while the Dodge, which had turned almost completely around and run over the curb on the east side of Locust Street, was very little damaged and was driven off under its own power. It bore an Ohio license.

FILE AFFIDAVIT

An affidavit has been filed in the court of Robert Newgent, local Justice of the Peace, by John Shannon, proprietor of the Monon restaurant, against Harold Call, of west Greencastle, charging him with defrauding the restaurant of $19.95. This sum represents the amount owing the restaurant for food eaten, according to the affidavit.

136 PASSENGERS OF STEAMER ARE MISSING

ALL EXCEPT THOSE IN ONE LIFEBOAT AND ONE RAFT TAKEN ABOARD AMERICAN SHIPPER AND OTHER CRAFT

VESTRIS SANK YESTERDAY

First Survivors Picked Up Early This Morning—Word of Rescue Flashed By Radio

LAKEHURST, N. J., Nov. 13.—(INS)—The Queen of the Air, the naval dirigible Los Angeles, was expected to leave here about sundown today to assist in the search for missing boats of the sunken liner Vestris off Virginia Capes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS)—The first known death in the Vestris wreck was reported by the U. S. S. Wyoming in a message to the Radio Marine Corporation today. The cruiser had picked up six persons from a raft, it reported, and one of them was found to be dead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Wireless advices received here up to noon today stated that 203 persons had been rescued from the life boats of the Lamport and Holt liner Vestris, which foundered yesterday 275 miles off the Virginia shoals.

This left 136 persons not accounted for as the ship carried 129 men, women and children passengers and a crew of 210.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Among the prominent passengers aboard the foundered vessel Vestris were Earl F. De Vore and Norman K. Botton, automobile racing drivers; Charles Q. Clement, Chancellor of the New York Consulate of Argentina; Major Inouye, Japanese consul at Buenos Ayres; William Wills Davis, newspaperman; and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Fletcher, of San Francisco.

Fletcher served after the war as a member of the Belgian relief commission under Herbert Hoover.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(INS)—An indication that some lives may have been lost in the sinking of the Lamport and Holt liner Vestris off the Virginia coast was given today in a message to the shipping board from the steamer American Shipper, one of the rescue boats.

The American Shipper reported it would stand by the scene of the wreck for several hours to search for missing passengers and crew before proceeding to New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Capt. William J. Carey, master of the foundered Lamport and Holt liner Vestris, was among the 39 persons picked up in one life boat by the French tanker Myriam, according to radio messages picked up by coast guard stations today.

The Myriam also has aboard 14 others from the Vestris, a total of 53.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(INS)—All passengers and crew of the British steamer Vestris, except those in one lifeboat and one raft, have been rescued.

This cheering word came over the Navy radio at 6:30 o'clock this morning from the shipping board vessel, American shipper.

The Vestris sank yesterday about 275 miles east by north of Cape Henry, Va. The 129 passengers and the 210 members of the crew put off in 16 small boats and in rafts. They drifted in the open sea throughout yesterday afternoon and during the night.

The first survivors were picked up at four o'clock this morning by the American shipper, one of the dozen vessels which had raced to the scene of the disaster.

Then, at frequent intervals, other boatloads of survivors were found.

WOULD ABOLISH THE TENURE LAW

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 13.—(INS)—An effort will be made in the 1929 State Legislature to abolish the teachers' tenure law, L. C. Ward, superintendent of the local public schools told an audience of school officials here.

The tenure law, adopted at the 1927 session of the Legislature, resulted in much confusion with changing about of teachers and heads of schools due to the fact that after service of five years a teacher would be entitled to his position for life.

Instructors who would otherwise have been retained were not given contracts and it was difficult for any teacher to remain in the same school longer than four years.

SOLVES RADIO TROUBLE

WABASH, Ind., Nov. 13.—(INS)—Radio interference caused by violet ray machines, a problem which the Radio Corporation of America failed to solve after it had been presented by the Wabash Radio Club, has been eliminated through the simple invention of a local citizen, Dr. Warrington.

A lead box placed over the violet ray machine is the simple device that got rid of every bit of violent disturbance.

Dr. Warrington will not seek to commercialize his invention, but will allow all radio fans to benefit from it.

MOVIES

GRANADA

There will be no show at the Granada Wednesday, due to a change in the heating system. "Pay As You Enter" will be shown there Thursday and is an outlandish love story of a waitress, two trolley shiks and a vamp. The main characters are Clyde Cook, Louise Fazenda, Myrna Loy and William Demarest.

Clyde Cook's unmanageable feet are international favorites. That they are appreciated the world over is evidenced by the laughter they provoke.

In "Pay as You Enter," Cook displays his prowess at "hoofing." He dances the proze waltz with Miss Fazenda at the Carmen's Ball and they win in a walk. The two male players spend their days running a street car and their nights courting Louise, who is a romantic hash-slinger in a quick lunch place. Myrna enters to "spill the beans as a good-looking gold digger. Lloyd Bacon directed this uproarious laugh film from a scenario by Fred Stanley. Be sure to get your laugh-quotas! VONCASTLE

"Their Hour" a Picture of Modern Youth

"Their Hour" featuring, Dorothy Sebastian, John Herron, June Marlowe and Huntley Jordan will be shown at the Voncastle, Wednesday.

The story tells of a fresh shipping clerk, who get a job by sheer nerve, spies the pretty secretary of the boss, pays court to her and wins her away from the boss. He is taken to the girl's house introduced to her parents and all is going along smoothly until her pretty rich cousin pays them a visit. She is immediately taken up with her cousin's fiance and starts a campaign of allurements that has the youngster dizzy. She takes him for an aeroplane ride, brings him to earth in an inaccessible part of the country where they have to spend the night. Entirely smitten with the flapper vamp's charms the young man breaks his engagement only to be terribly disillusioned the following day when the young lady's fiance shows up and brings the smitten youth to his senses. Contrite and ashamed he makes peace with his real sweetheart and a happy future is assured the youngsters.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 22

Many players seem very downhearted at holding bad cards or getting bad breaks with good cards, but there should always be one consolation. It is far better training to try to win with poor cards than to win with good cards by indifferent playing. One of the best players in the country attributes his skill to the fact that for the first few years he played Auction he held very poor cards and was obliged in self-defense to learn how to play a good game.

On the other hand, players who continually hold good cards can win without learning to play a good game. As a rule the big holders are seldom the best players, so if your cards are pretty bad and you have to struggle with might and main to break even, don't get discouraged. You are now learning the fine points of the game and when your luck turns you will be able to take the proper advantage of it.

Here is another consolation for the player who thinks he holds the worst hands in the world. The following hand was held in a social game in a small town near Philadelphia:

Hearts—7, 5, 3, 2
 Clubs—5, 3, 2
 Diamonds—7, 6, 5, 4
 Spades—6, 2

The amusing part of this incident is that the holder of the hand included it in an affidavit which was forwarded to the Knickerbocker Whist Club of New York City with a letter stating that he understood there was a prize of $100.00 offered for such a hand. Of course, the Knickerbocker Whist Club never made such an offer, so the holder of the foregoing hand was not compensated for his bad luck. The writer, however, once held a hand with a six spot as the highest card, and has yet to hear of a worse one.

Don't be too ready to make a business double just because your opponents have made a high bid. Be on the lookout for freak hands and use good judgment before doubling. Try to figure out what your opponents can hold to justify their bid. Always try to obtain the maximum result with the minimum of risk. Don't make the game any harder than it is. Always take the normal way whenever possible. By that is not meant to play safe. Try for the maximum at all times but, in doing so, don't take any unnecessary risks. The following hand is a good example:

Y :
 B :
 Z :

Hearts—K, Q, 7, 6
 Clubs—K, Q, J
 Diamonds—K, J, 9, 7
 Spades—A, K

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no trump. If A bid three spades and Y and B passed, what should Z do? Should he double three spades, bid three no trump or pass?

 Z should try to figure out what A could hold to justify a bid of three spades. The only possible justification for such a bid would be eight or more spades and one or more tricks in side suits. In such case, Z might defeat a three spade bid; but there would be no certainty of doing so. On the other hand, Z has such a good hand, including a double stopper in the spade suit, that he could readily score three no trump with a little assistance from Y. For this reason, Z should not double three spades but should try for game by bidding three no trump. Then, if either A or B should bid four spades, he should double. This plan of action tries for the maximum result with the minimum of risk.

The following hands bring out very much the same principles:

Problem No. 24

Hearts—none
 Clubs—A, K, 10, 9 : Y :
 Diamonds—A, 10, 9, 7 : A : B :
 Spades—K, Q, J, 10, 9 : Z :

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart. A bid one spade and Y bid four hearts. B and Z passed and A bid five hearts. Should A double, bid five spades or pass? Figure out your plan of action and compare results with the analysis that will be given in the next article.

Problem No. 25

Hearts—A, K, Q, 10, 9, 8
 Clubs—A, 10, 7, 6, 2 : Y :
 Diamonds—A, K : A : B :
 Spades—none : Z :

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one club. A passed and Y bid three spades. B bid four hearts, Z bid four spades and A and Y passed. Should B double four spades, bid five hearts or pass? Certain facts should be very apparent from the bidding of this hand, so try to figure them out. Solution in the next article.

Problem No. 26

Hearts—5, 4
 Clubs—6, 3
 Diamonds—A, K, 10, 9, 8
 Spades—A, K, 10, 9

Y :
 B :
 Z :

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one club and A bid one diamond. What would you do with Y's hand? Would you double one diamond, bid one no trump or one spade? Think over this unusual situation and compare results with the solution that will be given in the next article.

Mrs. Sutherland was accompanied by another woman and a girl. No one was hurt in the crash. The drivers failed to see each other in time to avoid the collision.

Her Appetite is Keen as Ever

HER ugly cold was "rubbed away" without disturbing her stomach at all.

There isn't a sign this morning of lost appetite or upset digestion that so often start with a cold and grow still worse when the cold is "dosed" with internal medicine.

And all because, last night at bedtime, Mother rubbed the youngster's throat and chest with Vicks VapoRub.

How cozy it felt, as Vicks began to "draw out" all the tightness and soreness, like a gentle but effective poultice.

At the same time, warmed by her body, it gave off healing vapors that she breathed in. They quickly cleared her nose and throat and made her breathing easy again.

She soon fell sound asleep, but Vicks' double action kept up for hours. And, by morning, the worst of her cold was over.

Mother uses it for her own colds, too, with equally good results.

and rescued by the ring of ships which had circled in wider sweeps throughout the night near the spot where the Vestris went down. The first word of the thrilling rescue at sea of most of the survivors came in this terse radio at 6:30: "One boat and one raft still missing. American shipper."

Later advices said that the rescue ships had joined in a concerted maneuver to locate the two missing boats. Not more than 35 passengers and crew were believed to be in the unlocated lifeboat and raft.

The Vestris, bound from Hoboken for Buenos Aires by way of the Barbadoes and Rio De Janeiro, broadcast the first S. O. S. early yesterday morning. Several passenger and freight ships near her course immediately altered their positions to go to her aid. The Navy and coast guard quickly dispatched rescue ships on the way, from New York and Norfolk. The battleship Wyoming, at sea was ordered to proceed under forced draft.

The coast guard destroyer Davis, from New York, kept in constant communication with the Vestris during the forenoon. The Vestris told of its decks being awash and of listing 32 degrees to starboard. Then the bow was reported under water.

Shortly after noon the passengers, men, women and children, were ordered off in the lifeboats and rafts. The Vestris' plight became worse and she wirelessed the Davis she was in danger of capsizing at any moment. At 1:25 the ship was abandoned and went under the water shortly afterwards. True to the condition of the sea, the Captain and radio operator, still giving the ship's position and calling for help, were the last to leave. After that—only silence from the Vestris.

Night and blackness. The rescue ships churned up the waves as their propellers raced madly driving them forward to the scene of the disaster. The Japanese steamer Ohio Maru and the San Juan of the Porto Rican line were the first to arrive at the spot.

No trace of the lifeboats was found. Other rescue ships arrived within a short time. Searchlights were played over the vast expanse of water. Still no trace of the survivors.

Through the night the rescue ships swung round and round in ever widening circles. The sea was rough. It was not believed the frail boats could stand out much longer. Sleepless crews remained at their posts, peering into the darkness for some trace.

At three o'clock a small red light was seen over the horizon by lookouts on the American Shipper. The vessel headed straight for the scene. The light grew stronger. It was a flare in one of the lifeboats. Other ships immediately were notified. They drove closer and swept the area.

Within an hour after sighting the flare, the American Shipper picked up the first lifeboat. It was four o'clock. The position of the lifeboat was 37.17 North and Longitude 70.38 West, estimated about 50 miles from where the Vestris sank.

The steamer Myriam next found a lifeboat of survivors.

A crypt message from the Myriam to the steamer Berlin, picked up at 4:55 a. m. by the Naval Radio said: "Come on. More boats to pick up. Am bound for New York myself. Have rescued Boat No. 5."

The other rescue ships rushed to the spot indicated by the Myriam. They found lifeboats and rafts drifting helplessly in the open sea.

At 6 o'clock the American Shipper radioed the Battleship Wyoming that five lifeboats and a raft had been accounted for.

A half hour later the American Shipper reported that all but one lifeboat and a raft from the Vestris had been picked up.

UPDIKE SEEKS VOTE RECOUNT

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Congressman Ralph E. Updike, Rep., of Indianapolis, today was fighting desperately to retain his office for which election returns showed him to have been beaten by Louis Ludlow, Dem., former president of the National Press Club of Washington, D. C.

A suit asking a recount of ballots was on file here today in Federal Court at the instigation of Updike, who charged that 10,000 ballots were unlawfully tabulated and counted at the recent election.

Updike also pointed out in the suit that the reported vote for Congress exceeded the vote for President.

Lawes, Famous Sing Sing Warden, Writes, 'Never Met Born Criminal'

(This is the first of two articles by James L. Killgallen on former Warden Lewis E. Lawes, on "Life and Death in Sing Sing." A second article tomorrow.)

By JAMES L. KILLGALLEN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—"I have never met the 'born criminal.' " "You can't tell a criminal by merely looking at him. There is no such thing as a 'criminal type.' "

So declares Lewis E. Lawes, for twenty-five years warden of Sing Sing prison, who, in a book just published entitled "Life and Death in Sing Sing," explodes almost every popular conception about crime and criminals. He says that prisoners act like "average human beings." That they are as law-abiding within their own jail community as are the people enjoying their freedom on the outside.

"In twenty-five years' experience I have never met the 'born criminal' whom a supreme court judge described as marked by eight physical characteristics," said Lawes in his book. "These characteristics were described as:

"Receding chin.
"Protruding jaw.
"Wide unthinking stare.
"Low bumpy brow.
"Huge clumsy torso.
"Thick hair.
"Ears set at right angles to the head."

"The judge said that where as many as four of these characteristics were present in an individual there would be no doubt as to the man's criminal nature."

Famous Men Among Them

"A half-dozen well-known men, who have at least five of the eight physical characteristics named include the president of a leading American university, a great English preacher, a French general, a Russian statesman, a leading Spanish

ACQUITTED IN BANK FAILURE

FRANKFORT, Ind. Nov. 13.—(INS)—The perfect score of acquittals of all persons indicted in connection with the failure of the American Trust Company of Kokomo, formerly the biggest Ku Klux Klan depository in Indiana, was maintained here today with Frank S. Owens, former president, freed of charges of bankers' embezzlement.

Owens was acquitted by a jury in Clinton County circuit court after it had heard charges that he accepted money from depositors when he knew the bank was insolvent the day before the bank was closed in September, 1927.

Three past and present State officials also have been freed from indictments relating to the Kokomo bank.

An indictment against Ora Davis, former State treasurer, alleged to have collected 1 per cent on all State funds he deposited in the Kokomo Klan bank, was quashed because the statute of limitations had run and charges against Luther F. Symons and Thomas Barr, State banking commissioner and assistant commissioner respectively, were dropped because it was held they were not liable for error in official judgement. They had been charged with condoning irregularities in the bank's operations.

BABY SMOTHERED TO DEATH ON TRIP TO GRANDPARENTS

Tiny hands believed in sleep, bright little eyes that were closed but closed in death greeted an Owen County mother Sunday morning about 11 o'clock en route to visit the 16-day-old lad's grandparents.

The baby Eugene Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Denton Barnes died some time Sunday morning probably only a few minutes before 11 o'clock, while he was being taken from the Barnes home just east of the Country Club, on State Road No. 67, northeast of Spencer, in an automobile nestled in the arms of his mother to visit his grandparents, who live three miles south of Spencer on the Freeman road.

Accidental death by strangulation and smothering is the way Corner Herman Hensley, of Gosport, put the cause of death this morning after a thorough investigation.

The tot, as all babies are wont to do, did a great deal of coughing since birth, and Mrs. Barnes, realizing this was the first trip for little Eugene, wrapped him up well—too well.—Spencer World.

ENGLISH DEBATER SPEAKS AT UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

The differences and similarities of England and America received a discussion today in chapel at DePauw when Miss Nancy Samuel, one of the three English women who debate in Meharry Hall tonight, told of some of her impressions of America. President G. Bromley Oxnam introduced the speaker.

"Of course Americans and English are alike in some ways," began Miss Samuel. "They speak the same language, or very nearly. And I noticed in the book shops that they read much the same books, for many English authors are read here, and we read many American authors, even Sinclair Lewis."

She also mentioned many points of difference. The two countries use different words for many things, as "tram" and "trolley car." As to houses, in England they shut the door to keep out the cold, while here they heat the houses and then open the windows. The American method of manipulating a knife and fork seems barbarous to the English.

In education she mentioned the number of private schools in England and the absence of co-education. Among the troubles the English women encounter in traveling were those of checking baggage and writing orders in dining cars, for in England that is not required.

Dr. Oxnam told of some things he had learned from the debaters, among them being that to show emotion or sentiment is bad form, and that the proper method of acknowledging an introduction is to simply say, "How do you do?" For when he said to one of them, "I am very pleased to meet you," she replied, "You're welcome."

dated with the Peoples State Bank and Trust Company at Clayton. He has been employed by the People's bank during the last few months to have charge of the work of consolidation. He is 50 years old.

Members of the board of commissioners who named Shields are Merritt Gregory of Stilesville and Frank A. Haynes of Pittsboro, both Republicans. The third member of the board, John E. Vestal of Plainfield, was injured in an automobile accident at Memphis, Tenn., Sunday, and was unable to be present at the called meeting today. The session was called by the county clerk.

Approximately $50,000 in county bonds at Whicker's office were reported intact when the examiners took charge of the books. Orr explained that all the money probably was taken from the school funds although legally the auditor does not actually handle any money. Hendricks county residents, however, paid their school fund loans to Whicker instead of to the treasurer, the legally constituted authority to receive the money. Examiners in addition to the shortage, found an overdraft in the county general fund account, amounting to more than $40,000.

Orr announced today that warrants for Whicker's arrest probably would be ordered within the next few days. It will not be necessary to complete the audit before warrants are issued and a search for the missing auditor is instituted, he said.

Woodward, former clerk, also a Republican, was sentenced to serve one to five years in Prison. He pleaded guilty to embezzling public funds in the amount of approximately $2,000.

FIND SKELETON OF A MONSTER

The William Barnhart farm at Romney today was the scene of marked activity following the discovery of some pre-historic monster on the farm.

The skeleton was discovered by William Barnhart last week and is now being dug out of the grave that has held it for many years.

Tusks measuring thirty-eight inches in length have been removed and the skull of the animal weighing five hundred pounds has also been taken from the ground.

Sunday many persons visited the farm to view the skeleton and ponder over what period in the world's history this monster existed.

Mr. Barnhart has found that the removal of the skeleton is no easy job but has decided to bring it out at no matter what the cost. The discovery has already attracted wide attention in western Indiana and during the next few days hundreds of persons are expected to view it.

Barnhart made the discovery on Friday while hunting on his farm. He was walking along a creek when he noticed what looked to be some sort of a skull protruding above the surface of the stream. On closer examination he discovered a large tooth and when he tried to lift the skull from the creek bed found it was more than he could handle.

Upon a still closer observation he discovered that he had found the remains of some animal that had roamed the world during prehistoric times. After digging in the sward for some time, Mr. Barnhart uncovered the tusks of the animal a number of large bones of the legs and several ribs. All the bones are in a marvelous state of preservation. Most of the skeleton was found at a depth of four feet under the surface of the earth.

A member of the zoology department of Purdue university was called to see the skeleton and pronounced it to be the skeleton of a mastodon and he notified the American Museum of Natural History of the find. It is expected that the society will send men to view the skeleton before the work of completing the excavation goes much further.—Crawfordsville Journal.

TEN AMERICANS ENJOY FIVE MILLION INCOMES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(INS)—There are ten American multimillionaires enjoying an income of $5,000,000 or more each annually, sharing among themselves $89,000,000 last year, according to statistics compiled by the Internal Revenue Bureau from the income tax returns for 1927.

Incomes of $1,000,000 annually are getting commonplace. There were 283 individuals enjoying a million or more in 1927, paying income taxes on $497,000,000.

Figures show a slight decrease in those with incomes of more than $5,000,000 from 1926, when 14 such were reported, but in the simple million class 283 sets a new record.

PREPARING PLANS FOR ANNUAL ROAD SCHOOL AT PURDUE

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 13.—Preliminary plans for the fifteenth annual road school which will be held at Purdue University, January 21 to January 25, under the direction of the school of civil engineering and extension department in co-operation with five state highway groups, indicate one of the greatest sessions in years, according to Prof. Ben H. Petty of Purdue, chairman of the program committee. A lengthy meeting of the program committee, consisting of the officers of the various cooperating groups, was held here recently and tentative arrangements have already been made with several of the proposed speakers.

According to present plans, two whole days will be devoted to sessions of the various co-operating groups, while the special meeting for city officials has been moved up from Friday to Wednesday. The program committee has taken advantage of the fact that there is a basketball game between Purdue and Wisconsin scheduled here for Monday night, January 21, and it is planned to have the game displace the usual dinner-smoker. The annual banquet will be held as usual on Thursday night.

Groups which co-operate with Purdue University in conducting the annual Road School are the Indiana State Highway Commission, the Indiana County Highway Superintendents' Ass'n., The Indiana County Surveyors' and County Engineers' Association, The City Street Commissioners' Association of the State of Indiana, and The Highway Materials and Equipment Association.

HOLD SHOE STORE MANAGER FOR FAKE HOLDUP STORY

J. L. Clayton, age 26 years, manager of the Neward shoe store at Crawfordsville, is held in jail in that city following a fake story of a hold-up Sunday in which he told police he had been robbed of $311.35 by three armed bandits. Crawfordsville police were suspicious of the holdup story and later got a confession from Clayton. The store has been closed and Clayton is held in jail pending the arrival of the store owners. Officers found the alleged stolen money hidden in some hosiery in the store.
